

Heating Oil

With the recent arrival of Autumn, now it is a good time to check your oil levels to avoid being caught short during a sudden cold snap.

The Great British weather is famous for being unpredictable and as we begin Autumn, a cold spell could be closer than you think.

With this in mind, we recommend that you check your heating oil levels to ensure that you do not run out, should we experience a sudden cold spell.

WME has a framework in place enabling us to supply a range of oil products through our chosen supplier.

The framework offers assurance that a robust procurement exercise has been undertaken to appoint a single, high quality and cost effective supplier.

You can get an instant oil quote now, by using our online oil calculator via the WME website.

To place an order, or get a quote over the phone, please call our customer service team now on: 0333 101 4424. You do not even need to be an existing WME customer to access this framework.

Oil orders are usually delivered within 3 working days of the order being placed. This can sometimes vary during periods of high demand.
